They'll Chart Perilous Waters

Four men and two women are somewhere in the perilous Colorado river canyon today on a 666-mile voyage from Green River, Utah, to Boulder Dam in Grand Canyon. SUPERVISORS' FEE FIGHT HITS SNAG; COURT TURNS DOWN PLEA

The county supervisors' attempt to institute litigation against fee officials in a test of the county fee ordinance, ran against a snag in San Diego yesterday when the fourth district court of appeals failed to issue the writ of mandate for which attorneys representing the supervisors petitioned.

FDR May Review Pacific Fleet

WASHINGTON, June 25.—(UP)—A review of the entire U. S. fleet off San Francisco is under contemplation by the President, it was learned today.

Sources close to the White House said that plans for the review probably would materialize although it was emphasized that they still are in a tentative stage.

While Mr. Roosevelt's schedule for arrival in California on his western trip starting July 7 has not yet been officially announced, it was believed that the review would take place July 15.

Reports from San Francisco indicated that some warships have received orders to converge at San Francisco for the show.

1600 Agree To End Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—(UP)—William Dalrymple, field director for the C.I.O. steel workers organizing committee, announced today he had asked the 1600 strikers at five plants of the American Can Company in California to return to work Monday.

Dalrymple said that "as a result of my recommendations, the negotiating committee voted to return to their locals and recommend return to work, I feel confident the strikers will follow the recommendation and be back on the job Monday."

The workers struck for resumption of contract negotiations.

Three Quizzed As Holdup Suspects

FRESNO, Calif., June 25.—(UP)—Inspector James Brady of the Bakersfield police department, said today he would confront three Fresno youths held here in connection with a series of service station holdups, with victims of similar holdups in Bakersfield. The victims will attempt to identify the three as members of a trio which robbed them, Brady said.

Brady, who questioned the three youths here, announced one of them, Guy Houston, 20, had confessed holding up five service stations and stealing four automobiles in Bakersfield. He would not identify his accomplices.

He is survived by his widow and a seven year old daughter.

Tragedy Hits Milwaukee Line For Second Time; Trains In Crash

Seek Youth Feared Dead

BULLETIN

INGOMAR, Mont., June 25.—(UP)—In the Milwaukee line's second wreck in a week, its westbound transcontinental filer, the Olympian, crashed head on at dawn today with an eastbound, Civilian Conservation Corps special, killing one CCC youth and critically injuring another, and injuring 18 persons on the Olympian.

The wreck occurred approximately 125 miles west of Custer Creek where a westbound Olympian plunged through a storm weakened trestle last Sunday morning killing 53 persons.

Engine Derailed

Robert Eckert of Portageville, N. Y., was killed in today's accident. A boy named Kohlbrunner was badly hurt. Both were from the CCC camp at Avery, Id.

The injured were taken to Foothills by automobile.

The special's engine was derailed and rolled down an embankment. A kitchen car was demolished.

Blame Engineer

At Chicago headquarters of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, an official said the head-on collision was caused by "failure of the Olympian's engineer to follow orders."

"The engineer has had an excellent record," the official said. "However, he had been scheduled to meet the special at Ingomar station. For an unknown reason he went beyond the station to the point where the crash occurred.

Overlooked Orders"

"He has told his immediate superiors that he could not explain why he passed the station. Apparently he overlooked his orders."

The Olympian left Chicago Thursday night for Seattle and Tacoma. It was due in Tacoma Sunday morning.

FDR Approves Navy Projects

WASHINGTON, June 25.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today advanced his naval expansion program by approving 113 Public Works Administration allotments for construction in navy yards and stations.

The projects, costing $27,883,000 were in a group of 265 with a value of $49,052,950 for five branches of government. An additional $100,000,000 federal allotments will be approved later.

The government program included 22 veterans hospital projects with allotments totaling $13,268,200, 34 geodetic surveys to cost $490,000, 68 Indian projects costing $5,513,000 and 28 light house service projects valued at $2,098,750.

Nazis Exempt American Jews

WASHINGTON, June 25.—(UP)—The state department announced today that Germany has agreed to exempt American Jews living abroad from the necessity of registering with the German government properties owned in Germany.

Exception to this waiver was made in the case of former German Jews who have left Germany for political reasons since the Hitler regime took power in 1933.

Former German Jews who may have acquired American citizenship since then will be required to register their property in accordance with an official German government decree issued on April 26.

The petition filed with the court of appeals yesterday asked a writ of mandate against Sheriff Logan Jackson, Treasurer T. E. Stephenson, Recorder Fred Sidebottom and Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, to compel a statement of fee sources and an accounting of fees received in excess of the fee ordinance.

Murderer Tells Of Old Romance

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—(UP)—A blighted romance with Clark Gable's stepmother was revealed today by Arthur Emil Hansen, courtroom slayer of two lawyers.

Hansen and Mrs. Edna A. Gable filed notice of intention to marry on Dec. 29, 1932, and received their wedding license Jan. 12, the records show.

"Then I left town for a few days, and when I returned, I found she was married to Henry Gable, Clark's father," said Hansen.

Mrs. Gable explained she met the slayer during a land deal, but suddenly changed her mind. Mrs. Gable was then the widow of the movie star's uncle, Frank Gable.

The debate was a highlight of the Institute of International Relations session at Mills College.

Prof. Cranston, chairman of the history department at Redlands, was opposed by Stuart R. Ward, state chairman of the American Legion national defense committee.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT

SAN JOSE, Calif., June 25.—(UP)—Apparently killed when caught in a pump belt and hurled with terrific force, Manuel Goularts, 35 year old rancher, was found dead in a ranch shed today near Cupertino.

He is survived by his widow and a seven year old daughter.

Skating Star To Tour In East

HOLLYWOOD, June 25.—(UP)—Irene Dare, a five year old St. Paul girl who became the neighborhood marvel on ice skates, and came to Hollywood to become the movies' "Baby Sonja Henie," will go to Madison Square Garden with an ensemble of more than 100 fancy skaters.

Sol Lesser, producer who handled Jackie Coogan, Jackie Cooper, Baby Peggy, and is now starring the child, announced that Irene and her troupe are tentatively signed for a month at the New York and San Francisco world's fairs.

PARIS, June 25.—(UP)—The Spanish Loyalist government notified the foreign office today that it would bomb Nationalist ports and bases of airplanes operating in the Nationalist behalf in reprisal if there are more insurgent aerial bombings of undefended Loyalist cities.

Dr. Marcelino Pascua, the Loyalist ambassador, handed the notification to Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet.

FEAR COMPLICATIONS

Bonnet urged prudence, and regarded the situation so seriously that he decided to issue an important declaration to the press today. France fears international complications.

FDR VOICES CHALLENGE

Prettiest Murphy

THREE POSTS UNOPPOSED

A total of 151 political candidates had filed petitions when the nominating period ended at noon today, assuring contests for all but three county offices, as an eleventh-hour political maneuver shunted a new group of contestants into the field.

County Clerk Basil J. Smith, Assessor James Sleeper and Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson are the only incumbents who will make their campaign without opposition. In the last few minutes of the filing period, opponents appeared for County Tax Collector J. C. Lamb, Recorder Fred Sidebottom and Auditor W. T. Lambert.

RUSH PETITIONS

Rumors were heard that a certain political group had 30 registered voters "staked out" in a house on North Main street, near Santa Ana junior college, for the purpose of signing papers. Thus nomination papers for a candidate were taken out, rushed to the house, signed and returned to the clerk's office for filing within a few minutes.

Orien W. Sisco, Orange, filed as an opponent of Tax Collector Lamb. Mrs. Mae B. Geeting, Santa Ana, failed to file for recorder, but her husband, Mark Geeting, substituted for her and became the candidate. Robert R. McDonald, Santa Ana automobile sales manager but residing in Anaheim, also filed for the recorder's office. Robert Cruzan of Orange, who had indicated an intention of opposing Supervisor Willard Smith, filed instead for county auditor, as did Charles Fallert of Fullerton, former manager of the National Re-employment Service. All were eleventh-hour filings.

WILKIE WITHDRAWS

Don Wilkie of Laguna Beach, issued an announcement that he had withdrawn as a candidate for sheriff and would support Constable J. L. Elliott of Santa Ana in the sheriff's race.

Wilbur K. Getty, Santa Ana, who applied for nomination papers as a candidate for governor, failed to get under the wire with his petition.

CLYDE WATSON IN RACE FOR ASSEMBLY

Assemblyman Clyde Watson, of Orange, representing the 74th district in the state legislature, today announced that he will be a candidate for renomination by the Democratic party at the August primary, and for re-election in November.

Watson was elected to the assembly two years ago. His nomination petition as a candidate to succeed himself was filed a few days ago at the county clerk's office.

The 74th district, one of Orange county's two assembly districts, comprises roughly the portion of the county south and east of the Santa Ana river. It includes the first, fourth and fifth supervisorial districts.

terrenean cities.

"The Spanish government has decided to reconsider its previous pledge not to bomb Nationalist cities," said an embassy spokesman. "Hereafter whenever the Nationalists bomb Valencia, Barcelona or other Republican cities our planes will bomb Nationalist ports and centers of concentration."

WARNING ISSUED BY ITALIANS

ROME, June 25.—(UPI)—Any attempt by the Spanish Loyalists to bomb Italian and German targets will be met with warfare, the influential Giornale d'Italia said today on commenting on the implied threat of the Loyalists to take reprisals against foreign nations for the Nationalist bombing of open cities.

Virginia Gayda, editor of the paper, who is often an informal spokesman for Premier Benito Mussolini, said the Italian-German reaction would be "immediate and implacable, not exercised by a diplomatic note of protest, but with cannon."

Blame Lloyd George

Gayda commented that the Spanish threat "is a geometrical development of the intentions of the 70-year-old warrior Lloyd George, who proposed the bombing of Malta."

He ended by saying that the present moment is disquieting and dangerous beyond a doubt.

McCormick and Whitmer set out Wednesday by automobile for a hike in the mountains, some of which are in Los Poblanos, the vast ranch of his step-father. They planned to return the same day. Thursday, Mrs. Sims reported her son missing, but was not alarmed, believing he and his companion had been lost in a storm.

Friday when nothing had been heard from him, Mrs. Sims appealed to authorities. National guard cavalry directed by Adjutant General R. C. Charlton and Governor Tingley, CCC members, and citizens entered the mountains.

Whitmer's body was crushed and many bones were broken. He was the son of wealthy Albuquerque business man and a student at Princeton University.

Whitmer's father died recently and his mother, Mrs. T. E. Whitmer, and his sister were reportedly at sea en route to Europe. While his family was away, he was staying at the home of Mrs. Robert Dietz, Mrs. Dietz, accompanying Mrs. McCormick, also identified the body.

Virginia Gayda, editor of the paper, who is often an informal spokesman for Premier Benito Mussolini, said the Italian-German reaction would be "immediate and implacable, not exercised by a diplomatic note of protest, but with cannon."

He ended by saying that the present moment is disquieting and dangerous beyond a doubt.

Schuurman was for eight years manager of the land department of the Royal Dutch Shell company and has had 12 years experience in the land department of the Pacific Gas and Electric company. He is a California State licensed land surveyor.

Schuurman has had many years of experience as a surveyor and in compiling drafting, and property descriptions. He is entirely familiar with the many phases of general topographical work.

H. S. PLUNGE PROVES HIT IN FIRST WEEK

The popularity of the Santa Ana high school plunge was evidenced this week, with the report today, by Reece (Pinky) Greene that over 100 boys and girls have attended daily since the opening last Monday morning.

A large number of these youths are just learning to swim and are taking instructions from Greene and Miss Marion Parsons who are in charge of the plunge for the summer.

The warm weather during the last few days and the admission price of 10 cents were credited by Greene as the reason for the interest shown.

The plunge is open from 9 a.m. to 12 and from 1 p.m. to 5 every day but Sunday. Later in the summer the plunge attendants announced that some competitive swimming events will be staged, and providing enough interest is shown by the adults the plunge may be opened a few nights a week during July and August, Greene announced.

Youth Injured On Slide Gets Award

Roy Moreland, 12-year-old Santa Ana boy who broke his leg while sliding down a "slide" in Puzzletown on the Long Beach Pike last Labor Day, was awarded $284.55 damages by a jury in the Long Beach branch of Los Angeles county superior court yesterday.

Thomas B. Kuchel, of Anaheim, Orange county attorney and assemblyman, represented the boy and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sawyer, 1721 West Eighth street, in the litigation, which was instituted against the Pike association after an offer of $75 in settlement was rejected.

The trial started last Tuesday morning and the jury verdict was returned at 1 p.m. yesterday. Attorney Gregson Bautizer, of Los Angeles, was associated with Kuchel in the case.

Cites Principles

"Do not mislead me, I certainly would not indicate a preference in a state primary merely because a candidate, otherwise liberal in outlook, had conscientiously differed with me on any single issue. I should be far more concerned about the general attitude of a candidate toward present day problems and his own inward desire to get practical needs attended to in a practical way."

"And I am concerned about the attitude of a candidate or his sponsors with respect to the rights of American citizens to assemble peacefully and to express publicly their views and opinions on important social and economic issues.

Not Deceived

"There can be no constitutional democracy in any community which denies to the individual his freedom to speak and worship as he wishes. The American people will not be deceived by anyone who attempts to suppress individual liberty under the pretense of patriotism."

He added, immediately, that freedom of expression—especially freedom of the press—"would lead to a lot of mean blows struck between now and election day." Mr. Roosevelt said he meant that there would be "misrepresentation, personal attacks and appeals to prejudice."

Addressing himself to voters of all parties, he said that there would be a general clash this year between "two schools of thought, generally classified as liberal and conservative."

New Remedies

"Roughly speaking," he explained, "the liberal school of thought recognizes that the new conditions throughout the world call for new remedies."

"The opposing or conservative school of thought, as a general proposition, does not recognize the need for government to take action to meet these new problems."

"Be it clearly understood," the President said, "that when I use the word 'liberal' I mean the believer in progressive principles of Democratic, representative government, and not the wild man who, in effect, leans in the direction of Communism, for that is just as dangerous as Fascism."

Raps Defeatism

Mr. Roosevelt reiterated his allegation to the private profit system.

Briskly challenging "defeatism," Mr. Roosevelt repeatedly asserted that New Deal "reform" would continue despite the counsel of "copperheads" to ease up.

"Never before have we had so many copperheads," he said. "And you will remember that it was the copperheads who, in the days of the war between the states, tried their best to make Lincoln and his Congress give up the fight, let the nation remain split in two and return to peace—peace at any price."

Defends Wage Bill

In a tactfully worded reference, regarded as directed against one of the outstanding automobile manufacturers, Mr. Roosevelt defended the wages and hours act.

"Do not," he said, "let any calamity howling executive with an income of $1,000 a day, who has been turning his employees over to the government relief rolls in order to preserve his company's undistributed reserves, tell you—us-

Opponents Hit By Roosevelt

of all at the bottom to get work—and through work to get a really fair share of the good things of life and a chance to save and rise."

Raps Labor

Naming no names, but firing freely at identifiable individuals and institutions, Mr. Roosevelt rebuked labor and capital for mistaken tactics, repudiated interference with freedom of speech—that shot apparently was aimed at Jersey City's Mayor Frank Hague—and made sarcastic reference to a $265,000-a-year business executive who feared the effect of a national minimum wage of $1 per week.

He told the nation that the New Deal had won the fundamental issue at stake in the judiciary reorganization battle—the attitude of the Supreme Court toward constitutional questions is entirely changed." He said that barring the unforeseeable there would be no special session of Congress this autumn. He called for a "united front" of government, capital and labor to "resist wage cuts which would further reduce purchasing power."

Program Goes On

The New Deal program will go on, he insisted, under impetus of the national will. Upon labor and capital he placed principal responsibility for current depression, although conceding that government, too, had made mistakes.

In sharp language evidently directed at Hague, he said constitutional democracy could not survive denial of freedom of speech. He intimated possible repudiation of Democratic candidates responsible for denying free speech or of candidates whose sponsors deny it. His language was potential with political dynamite because Hague not only is Democratic leader of New Jersey, but is vice chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Program Grows

The New Deal program will go on, he insisted, under impetus of the national will. Upon labor and capital he placed principal responsibility for current depression, although conceding that government, too, had made mistakes.

British Cabinet In Policy Split

"I feel I can not honestly allow you to treat me any longer as even nominally a supporter of the government."

Churchill In Rebuke

Churchill, on Thursday night, was one of a dozen conservatives who remained ostentatiously in their seats during a vote on a labor party motion of censure against the government. Their votes were not needed, but their abstention was a direct rebuke, and one which caused something of a sensation.

Churchill, most dashing of the conservative leaders, and one of the brilliant orators of his day, was the first lord of the admiralty, munitions minister and war secretary.

Fortunately for business as a whole, and therefore the nation, that type of executive is a rarity with whom most business executives heartily disagree."

Navy Planes Hop For Seattle

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 25.—(UP)—Forty-eight navy patrol bombers took off here today on a mass, nonstop flight to Seattle. The planes began taking to the air at 5:14 a.m., and the last of the big twin-engined airboats was in the air at 8:08 a.m.

The flagship of Rear Admiral Charles A. Blakely, commander of the aircraft scouting force, was the last of the great armada, carrying more than 300 officers and men to get into the air.

Just before he stepped into his plane Adm. Blakely said the slowness of the takeoff was due to a shortage of adequate beaching gear.

From Seattle Adm. Blakely will lead his four-squadron flight to the new fleet airbase at Sitka, Alaska.

Hughes Ready For Flight To Paris

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—(UP)—Howard Hughes leaves for New York sometime next week to hop off on what may be the fastest crossing of the North Atlantic ocean.

The millionaire oilman-aviator said today he will make a non-commercial flight from New York to Paris in behalf of the 1939 World's Fair of New York, but has no plans to fly round the world.

Hughes expects to take off probably next Wednesday morning for New York city. A few more tests remain to be made on his powerful twin-motored Lockheed plane. Possibly a week after reaching New York he will hop off for Paris.

The dark-haired young sportsman is expected to span the ocean in about 24 hours; Lindbergh took 33½.

Unitarian Church To Discuss Wars

The last two Sundays in June at the Unitarian church will be devoted to consideration of the twin subjects: "What Makes Revolutions?" and "What Makes Wars?" They are sermons based on recent reading of the pastor, the Rev. Julia N. Budlong. Tomorrow's theme will enlarge upon a paragraph in the Autobiography of Lincoln Steffens. The second sermon will be drawn from the article in a recent popular magazine, "The Will to Fight." These two services will begin at 11 a.m. There will be no Forum meeting at the church this week, but a series of Town Meetings will be opened July 5 to be held each Tuesday night.

PLAN HEARING

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 25.—(UP)—The Agricultural Prorate Commission announced today that the hearing on the petition for a prorated marketing program for California grapes will be held June 30, at 10 a.m., in the department of agriculture building in San Francisco. The hearing was originally scheduled for June 27.

WEEKLY CITRUS REVIEW

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—(UP)—Valencia prices averaged higher on medium to large sizes, with practical no change in small sizes this week. The improvement however, was confined to fruit of good quality.

The volume of sales was about the same as the previous week. Improved weather conditions should prove a factor in the market.

Kumquat competition is now offered by cantaloupe, peaches and other seasonal summer fruits which are selling at reasonable prices.

Orange juice continued to make very substantial shipments of oranges, moving 488 cars last week and an estimated movement of between 300 and 350 cars this week.

Prunes on grapefruit were lower this week than the previous week.

Last week Florida shipped 129 cars grapefruit. The total movement was 150 cars below the previous week.

The market for lemons is stronger due to increased export of the Rockies ranging from $8 to $6 above in principal marketing centers.

F.O.B. California quotations are on a basis of $3.75 to $4.00 per box on each choice fruit, all grades.

There are no foreign lemons on hand or available for sale within the next 30 days in all U.S. ports same week last season, 33 cars; 1936: 235, none; 1934: 14 cars and 1933: 20 cars.

Valencia prorate for next week: Southern California—110 cars interstate—130 cars intrastate commerce. Central California—50 cars interstate—40 cars intrastate commerce.

Combined total of citrus fruit shipped to date this season, 52,521 carloads.

EUGENE FENELON IS FACING PROBLEMSTHIS BIRD DUNKS ITS BREAD IN WATER BEFORE CONSUMING

Among the latest hot-weather stories to come from Laguna Beach, vouches for by no less than three newspapermen and six reputable citizens, is the tale of "Duncan McWatters," a glossy blackbird who utilizes the bird bath in front of the Kay home, in rather unorthodox fashion.

Let's get started on this veracious narration. Bill Kay, who dabbles in letters, has made friends with a lot of birds indigenous to the locality, by placing food for them, and providing a concrete bowl filled with fresh water, in front of his home up-town. Humming birds, pigeons, mocking birds, finches, red-breasted songsters, and even occasional quail come and get it, when as, and if needed. Blackbirds, too, are ever-present.

Well it's like this: One blackbird grabs off a chunk of bread, and then solemnly flies with it to the nearby bird-bowl, where—believe it or not—he "dunks" it in the water, eyeing it owlishly as it soaks. Then, with great deliberation, the bird carries the soaked morsel to a nearby branch of a tree, and gobles away at the bread, with many a clacking comment of approval.

And that ain't the half of it: In case the lump of bread isn't wet enough to suit his nibs, he conveys it back to the bird-bath, and dunks it some more.

Then, back to his branch, or occasionally to the lawn, and so to dinner. Of dozens of blackbirds using the facilities provided, this one glossy, beady-eyed individual is the only one to dunk. Hence, he "Duncan McWatters," which seems appropriate naming. Or are we wrong?

NEW YORK—Johnny Vander Meer credits Bill McKechnie and Bob Grove, the man his manager sent him to, for the improved control that enabled him to turn in consecutive no-hit, no-run games for the first time in 100 years of baseball and to win seven games in a row.

At Tampa this spring, McKechnie told Vander Meer that he was letting go of the ball too early, and that this accounted for the fact that he was missing the plate by an inch or two. The Cincinnati pilot advised his great young southpaw to work on going through more with the pitch, holding on to the ball longer, and told him to relax a bit.

"Sometimes I do what he told me to do, and then again I'd forget it," says Vander Meer. "That accounted for my streakiness in the line of getting the ball over the plate."

While the Reds were coming north with the Boston Red Sox, McKechnie told Vander Meer to go to the clubhouse and talk with Lefty Grove. Old Lefty told the Hollander that he'd noticed that he finished his pitch with his right leg stiff.

"Send that right knee just a bit and it will help you in your pitch," Grove told the pleasant youngster who was to write pitching history. "It will give you the right follow through."

McKECHNIE PRAISES LOW CURVE BALL

Vander Meer started to do this immediately, and believes that it helped him immensely.

McKechnie says that the big muscle which Vander Meer has on the inside of his left arm—just above the elbow—is the strongest he ever saw on a pitcher.

"It may account for his speed and that fine curve," beams Wilkinsburg Will. "I just wouldn't know."

It isn't necessary for McKechnie to say that Vander Meer has more stuff right now than any other pitcher in the National league. But that's his answer to the question of how in the world the young man happened to hurl two no-hitters in a row.

"I cannot tell you how Johnny happened to be so good in those two games," says McKechnie. "It's beyond me, and probably nobody ever will know the answer. But I can say that he's a fine pitcher and has the stuff. For instance, that low curve ball of his, particularly in the late part of the game with the Bees, was practically unbeatable."

GILES WARDS OFF "PROPOSITION" MEN

Warren Giles, general manager of the Reds, has constituted himself as a buffer between Vander Meer and those alert business men who would aid their products and schemes by using the new big baseball name therewith.

"Johnny is taking his time," explains Giles. "He says that he is primarily a baseball player and does not want a lot of tinsel and ballyhoo."

Vander Meer is a nice kid with a keen sense of humor.

He gets a laugh telling about having a no-hit game practically in his pocket in the Piedmont league.

There were two out and two strikes on the batter when George Ferrell, brother of Wes and Rick, whacked a base hit which knocked the steel pitching toeplate right off Johnny Vander Meer's shoe.

TWO REMATCHES ON NEXT BOXING CARD

Two rematches are on the boxing card to be presented Monday night at Orange County Athletic club, according to Matchmaker Frankie Lockhart.

In the top half of the double main event, Tommy O'Connell, Santa Ana 154-pounder, is rematched with "Red" O'Shannon, whose real name is Bill Chavez. Down in the preliminaries Ernie Shives, also of Santa Ana, meets "Flash" Gordon, Los Angeles, at 200 pounds, in a rematch.

BAER TO SIGN 3-YR. CONTRACT

LONG BRANCH, N. J.—(UP)—

Following a conference with Max Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, here today, Promoter Mike Jacobs of the Twentieth Century club said that tonight he will sign the former heavyweight champion to a three-year contract.

Jacobs would not admit as much, but boxing critics interpreted this contract as a sure sign that Baer would be the next challenger for Joe Louis' title, and that the challenge bout probably would be held in September.

SACRAMENTO STAR FRACTURES ANKLE

OAKLAND (UP)—"Buster" Adams, Sacramento outfielder, who fractured his right ankle last night when sliding home after hitting a home run inside the Oakland park may go home to recuperate in a day or two. Merritt hospital attaches said today.

The young center fielder was reported "getting along nicely."

Louis B. Mayer, one of Hollywood's top shots, is definitely going into the horse business, and according to the reports current at Hollywood Park, his venture into turfdom will be a "first cabin" voyage—good horses and a high class stable.

Don Cameron, well known eastern trainer, came out here by plane from New York yesterday to confer with Mayer about the proposed stable, but as yet no training assignment has been announced.

However Mayer offered Bert Jobson $30,000 for Specify, which was refused, and he has commissioned Frank Kelly, track superintendent here, to build a training track for him at his ranch near Malibu beach.

"We intend to maintain formful racing here and we will not tolerate inconsistent riding," today declared Edmond G. Soule, presiding steward, in commenting upon the suspension of Jockey Willie Robertson, who was set down for the remainder of the meeting yesterday.

The case against Robertson, Soule said, "was not based upon one unsatisfactory ride, but several of them."

Robertson finished second aboard the odds-on Golden Nut in the eighth race Thursday and this country in Higher, which is touched off the fireworks. He standing at his Parnell, Mo., ranch failed to make his move fast. Maeine, winner of six out of seven starts, is among the first crop of this sire . . . Unfortunately, Jones ran the colt in a claiming race at Florida and lost him the first time out . . .

Robertson's ride on Pompei didn't suit the stewards as they maintained that he stayed 30 feet off the rail instead of trying to save ground.

In another ruling announced yesterday, Jockey George Burns was fined $25 and suspended five days for rough riding Thursday. He crossed over on his field right at the start of the fourth race with Gipsy Minstrel . . .

Trainer Darrel Cannon of the A.C.T. Stock farm yesterday brought in Fort Springs, a veteran sprinter, the 2-year-old, Shasta Fitz, and a pair of 3-year-olds, Pomkee and Mountmerrick, from the Conejo ranch. These horses were fired at Santa Anita last winter and have been rested up . . .

HERE AND THERE: Jockey Frank Chojnicki has been released by the Jobella stable and will now ride free lance . . . Eddie Arcaro, who rides Lawrin in the $50,000 Championship Wednesday will come out by plane tomorrow night . . . He rides Memory Book in a handicap at Detroit . . .

Lawrin breezed a half in :47 yesterday and will probably work a route today . . . He's coming along splendidly . . . "Stubby" Norris, trainer for C. D. Zimmerman, has recovered from an appendicitis operation . . . The Chilean invader, Sahri II, which won the Hawthorn Gold Cup last summer, is training impressively . . . She breezed five-eighths in 1:01 3/5 yesterday and was "up" for three-quarters in 1:01 5/8 . . . Judging from their training moves, Wing and Wing and Rommy may take another fling against top company in the 3-year-old stakes . . . Ben Jones believes he has one of the best stud prospects in Lawrin and Dauber appear to be coming along splendidly for their $50,000 engagement Wednesday.

Lawrin worked three-quarters in 1:14 4/5, breezing, while Dauber went a half in :48 1/5 and had five-eighths in 1:01 4/5, breezing . . .

Trainer Fred Estes reports that Governor Chandler, the Illinois Derby winner, is still on the listing list.

He was blown out a slow half the other day but still is suffering from a cold . . .

No Dice, Bert Baroni's handicap horse, is definitely beyond the danger stage now, after having almost succumbed to colic . . .

Lawrin and Dauber remain in action . . .

Smith Complains at Umpires

(4) Manager Smith crawled into the press box and bawled out League President J. H. (Jimmie) Heffron of Anaheim for the alleged inefficiency of his umpires, one and all. Heffron listened patiently;

(5) Catcher "Bomo" Koral threw a ball at Umpire Elmer Williams after a questionable decision at third base and Williams threw Smith right out of the game;

(3) Outfielder Tom Lacy was given the air by Williams for protesting too violently a decision at first base. This would have left the Stars only eight men so Williams relented and let Lacy remain in action;

Smith Complains at Umpires

(4) Manager Smith crawled into the press box and bawled out League President J. H. (Jimmie) Heffron of Anaheim for the alleged inefficiency of his umpires, one and all. Heffron listened patiently;

(5) Catcher "Bomo" Koral threw a ball at Joe Hosack of Anaheim after Hosack had drawn a walk and later in the contest bowled over Bob Hosack, Joe's brother, in a collision at second base. Bob suffered a badly wrenched hip and had to be assisted off the field. Joe Hosack wanted to square off against Koral and "Bomo" was more than willing to accommodate him but cooler heads prevailed;

Anaheim put the game on ice in the second inning, belting Jacobsmeyer for six runs on seven hits and one error. A triple by Cornelius, and doubles by Wallin and Bell were mixed up in the wild inning. Jacobsmeyer had a sore arm and Bob Mott took his place in the box starting with the fourth inning. He gave up 6 runs and 10 hits in 6 innings.

The Stars' lone run was a line homer by Lacy between right and center. Mott's triple and Wiemer's infield single were the only other blows off Heman who had the Stars breaking their bats at the plate.

Bob (Lefty) Fowler put an end to the so-called Orange jinx at San Bernardino. The Orangemen lost their first game away from home since the season started, 5-4; maybe they can win one at home now.

The masterful pitching of Fowler, who relieved Fred Hanson in the seventh with Orange leading 4-3, was the highspot. Fowler got Nelson Struck, Orange's catcher, on an easy popup and fanned the next eight batters that faced him during the remainder.

Irvine broke Whittier's three-game winning spurt by trimming the Poets on their own field, 4-1.

Huntington Beach used "Fuzzy" Errington on the mound to trounce Brea, 11-4.

The couple are staying at the John R. Kennedy mansion here for a few days before heading eastward on a honeymoon trip, the butler at the Kennedy residence said.

CROWD EXPECTED AT BEACH ZONE HEARING

COMMISSION TO HEAR PROTESTS

LAGUNA BEACH, June 25.—In response to popular demand, the Community players will present "Sidewalks of New York," old-time tear-jerker of the 1840's, which attracted capacity crowds to last December's three performances. Rehearsals are in progress for the July presentation of the melodrama, which will be given on July 9-10.

Principal character, and target of loathing from the audience, will be "Gideon Bloodgood," note shaving, widow evicting money lender, to be depicted by Harling Griggs.

Oranges, peanuts, hissing and boozing, will be strictly out fait, in the best fashion of New York's old Bowery theater, where the Dion Boucicault masterpiece enjoyed fabulously long runs both prior to and after the Civil War, with frequent resurrections since those stirring days.

An olio of songs will be interspersed between the acts and scenes of "Sidewalks." In the cast will be included all those who carried the burden last winter, with many additions. Each performance will be a gala one.

BUENA PARK, June 25.—In the presence of 400 guests, Miss Edith Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Page, of Buena Park, and Ralph W. Beatty, of Anaheim, were married at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in the First Congregational church.

The church was beautifully decorated with large baskets of white larkspur, palms, ferns and white tapers in tall candelabra. The single ring service was read by Rev. F. Stanley Powles.

Musical Program

Favorite numbers were presented by William Phillips at the organ and an ensemble composed of Mrs. Walter Kemper, piano; Miss Leila Brown, violin; Thor Waiburg, cello, and Paul Beatty, flute. Preceding the ceremony James Baker sang "Parlez moi d' Amour" and "I Love You Truly." The bride, entering the church on the arm of her father, wore a white satin and lace Victorian gown with a long tulle veil held in place by a halo of miniature orange blossoms.

Her bouquet was of gardenias, lilies of the valley and orchids. For something borrowed and something blue she wore a gold filigree bracelet with a blue stone loaned to her by Miss Marie Brenner and according to tradition, she also wore a sapphire in her shoe. The bride's sister, Miss Bertha Page, was maid of honor and wore a gown of baby blue organdy trimmed with pink. In her hair was a bandeau of pink roses and she carried a bouquet of pink Briarcliff roses.

Brother Best Man

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Helen Fry of San Francisco, sister of the bride; Marie Brenner, Ruth Beatty, sister of the bridegroom and Harriet Simmons. Flower girls were little Joan Needham and Kay Randal, in long dresses of coral marquisette, each carrying a basket of blossoms.

Evan Johnson was best man and Wallace McClure of Taft, and Virgil Wagner of La Habra were ushers.

Elizabeth Huntsinger of Anaheim played the wedding music on the pipe organ. Preceding the ceremony she played a medley of old love songs. Miss June Wiede of La Habra sang "At Dawn."

New Sorority Members Paid Party Honors

Induction into Delta Chi Sigma sorority signaled a gala evening Thursday for Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. James Newman, the Misses Henrietta Jinnett, Imogene McCauley, Dorothy Baker and Henrietta Rurup. For immediately after their formal pledges were received, the six were complimented at a dinner dance at Biltmore Bowl.

Pledging rites, conducted beautifully by candlelight were held in the home of Miss Carol Smith, 2397 North Flower street. Miss Alice Martin and Miss Dorothy Hanna, chapter president and vice-president, with Miss Helen Manderscheid as pledge-mistress and Miss Smith as secretary, conducted the ceremonial in a setting of deep red roses. Candles were in gold and with their flaring black ribbon bows, suggested the sorority colors. Each initiate was presented with a bracelet bearing the sorority crest.

Joined by their escorts for the dancing party, chapter members found their tables at the Biltmore Bowl charmingly arranged with flowers. Again the sorority crest came into prominence on the place cards.

Buffet supper was served in a setting of white flowers and napkins, with silver appointments. White dahlias centered the dining room table, while smaller tables set up in the living room bore centerpieces of dainty white flowers.

Chinese checkers were played during the evening. Mrs. Kenneth Coulson and Ray Buckner won first prizes, while Mrs. Victor Raney and Lee Staton Jr. held second high scores. Galloping award also went to Mrs. Raney.

Presentation of miscellaneous shower gifts to the engaged pair came as a climaxing feature. Interesting Plans

Mrs. Van Antwerp plans to spend the summer in San Francisco where she will be a guest at the Sir Francis Drake after early July. During the coming week she will be at the Fairmont Hotel, as guest of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hatfield of Oklahoma City, Okla. Mr. Hatfield is prominent in Kiwanis International, and will take active part in next week's convention program in the Bay City.

Interest felt by friends in Mrs. Van Antwerp's plans has been expressed in a series of intimate dinner parties. Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Magan and Dr. and Mrs. Edward Norwood of Covina, were prominent among such dinner hosts, expressing the close friendship that has maintained for years between the families. Mrs. Van Antwerp Is Paid Farewell Party Compliment

"Say au revoir but not goodby" of the old ballad, might well have applied to the enjoyable affair at which Mrs. Lyle Anderson yesterday afternoon called together a number of friends of Mrs. Claude H. Van Antwerp, to take their farewells before Mrs. Van Antwerp's departure tomorrow evening for San Francisco.

With the prettiest garden imaginable at her home, 2335 Oakmont avenue, it was not to be wondered at that Mrs. Anderson should make this farewell courtesy a garden party. Also she specified informality, since Mrs. Van Antwerp has withdrawn from social life because of the passing just a year ago of her husband, the late Claude H. Van Antwerp, one of the city's leading business men.

Amidst Flowers

No more charming setting could be desired than the garden with its spreading walnut and fig trees, its borders where maidenhair fern, lily-hocks, dahlias, arbutus and primroses flaunted their bright colors. As though mere blossoms might be needed, there were rustic baskets of geraniums, and exciting the most comment of all, the shallow bird bath was overflowing with magnolia blossoms.

Place cards of flower design were arranged on small tables with their linen covers, and each table bore a bowl of pansies. Mrs. Anderson received in a smart ruffled frock of flower print. Mrs. Van Antwerp was in black chiffon, relieved by the lei of gardenias, gift of Mrs. Henry Williams. In addition she was sent American Beauty roses by Mrs. Laville Mitchener of San Francisco and Mrs. J. Ward Slattery, view who have been frequent guests in this city.

After luncheon contract play was enlivened by the travels of the "galloping" award, which finally came to rest with Mrs. Robert Fernandez, and proved to be a pair of embroidered guest towels in pastel linens. Mrs. Fernandez won two additional damask towels for the afternoon's high score. Similar linens went also to Mrs. Louis Sawyer and Mrs. Foster Lamm, two guests from Whittier. When Mrs. Anderson presented the gift packages with their flower-hued ribbons, she gave a hand-blocked linen handkerchief in black and white to the honor guest.

Many Guests

Colanichetti of Ventura; Mrs. Edward Weger, Mrs. Wellesley P. Wait A Minute

Speaking of hobbies, an interesting one is that of Gazelle Stevens (Mrs. Harwood) Sharp. Herself a poet, she also collects poems of others. These she mounts on backgrounds of uniform size in harmony with or to illustrate the poem in question. They are then boxed in collections of 20 or more, and loaned to poetry-loving friends or those who are sick and shut in . . . Motion picture taking, a popular hobby, has ensnared Julia Ann (Travel Bureau-Mrs. C. W.) Hyde, and she has a honey of a new camera and countless rolls of film ready to shoot the works on that Alaska trip on which she left today . . . Fred (Bond Salesman-Globe Trotter) Hermon, also a camera enthusiast, loaned her his tripod and other equipment. Fred, by the way, peddles his bonds from an office down at Our Village.

While Isabel (Mrs. Robert) Wade was aiding small Dotter Ann Terry Wade receive her party guests to her day smalles. Son Robbie turned on the hose and had more fun when the little girls ran to save their party frocks. When Eddie West, Jr. arrived at the party, he marched straight past his hostess, who inquired, "Mama, didn't Eddie bring me a present?" . . . Norton (Com. Artist) Gaston sports a clever watch bracelet given him by an aged chief on an Arizona reservation, fashioned of hand-hammered silver with thunder birds and turquoise triangles . . . Edna (Mrs. Dexter) Ball converted material purchased for draperies for her son's room, into a tricky sun suit for herself—remind us to tell you sometime, of her powdering her nose once within a darkened theater, only to emerge into the brightly lighted foyer with a nose that would put any dipsomaniac to shame . . . An experience matched by that of Ruth (Mrs. Lester) Carden, who slipped away from party guests to apply a hasty dab of no-shine to her nose, and picked up a bottle of mascara by mistake.

(IM)PERTINENT FACTS

Who was the pretty blonde with whom Stan (Stanford) Goode, Jr. was dining and dancing so blithely to other night? Is it romance? . . . Evelyn and Virgil (Salesmen) Reed tripping down town make the best looking pair . . . Constance (The Unpredictable) Cruickshank and Sister Marion (Johnston Haddon's Gal) Cruickshank are going to be experts in the art of making squiggles and pothooks by the time they finish the course in shorthand upon which they suddenly decided to embark.

Grace (Sears Roebuck) Pickens has set of received doctor bills to show for her vacation down in Texas, where she went to visit and remained to fly—just missing pneumonia . . . Avery (Also Sears Roebuck) Johnson has about the best looking pink hair we know . . . Betty (Flowerland-Mrs. Russell) Rohrs is perfect mosquito bait—judging from the bites on her ankles . . . And then there are those look-alikes, John (Fire Chief) Luxembourg and Hugh (Moon Pitchers) Herbert . . . to say nothing of Ruth (Mrs. Charles) Bressler and Olive (Mrs. Frederic) Dunstan.

It's jacaranda time, with trees all over the county bursting into blue glory . . . Matilija poppies fragile and exquisite, are grown in profusion by Gertrude and Robert (Pedagogue) Horn—we know that the Reg. Office has a great cluster of 'em . . . Bess (Mrs. Roy) Langley grows so many flowers in her garden, that she needs no gift bouquets when entertaining . . . That goes double for Elaine (Mrs. Henry) Williams, who grows such varieties that she has flowers to send everybody for every occasion . . . Ival and William (Rancher) Richardson began a year ago, to plan the archway of greenery and the bright flowers that will form the garden setting for tonight's wedding of Cousin Leatha Tyler and Raymond Miller. Bride Leatha has dreamed of a garden wedding since she was a tiny gal . . . Iva and O. Scott (Sky Pilot) McFarland sent home for wedding pictures to use at their silver anniversary party—much to their surprise the picture was already in the hands of their guests and was making the rounds of the dinner table at Daniger's . . .

Preceding instalment was a dinner at Daniger's, where 50 members and guests assembled in honor of the installing team. On the committee in charge were Tenney Low, Nellie Colombini and Ethel Brown.

Guests of the evening included mothers of juniors and delegations from Southern District Institutes including Anaheim, Crown City, Long Beach and Pomona.

Afternoon of Bridge Follows Luncheon In Fuller Home

Crystal baskets filled with blue bachelor buttons centered luncheon tables in the home of Mrs. C. C. Fuller Wednesday afternoon for a pleasant affair at which she received 20 guests in her home, 1014 Louise street.

Bridal Party Honored
At Buffet Supper
And Dancing

Because Miss Bettie Timmons is to be maid of honor tonight for her life-long friend, Miss Elizabeth Mae ("Betty") West when the latter becomes the bride of Frederick Allen Pinkston at formal church rites, she reserved the privilege of staging the last of the many days of the bride's girlhood days.

This took the form of a buffet supper to climax last night's rehearsal in First Baptist church. When all the charming young people who will figure in tonight's formal rites, had concluded rehearsals, they sought the Red Hill Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Othello Timmons. Miss Gloria Kirchner joined Mr. and Mrs. Timmons in greeting them.

Small tables were arranged all about the rooms for enjoyment of the supper menu served from the dining room table where Shasta daisies nodded from a big yellow bowl. Later evening hours were given over to dancing to radio music, varied by games of pingpong or billiards.

Miss West chose clever wood veneer compacts or cigarette cases for her bridesmaids, who include with Miss Timmons, maid of honor, Miss Evelyn Witt, Miss Eleanor Cogan, Miss Betty Bradley, Miss Kate Lillard, Miss Virginia Curry, Miss John Sherman Barlow, and Miss Harriet Fowler. For Pierian Club
In Island Home

Cordial welcome was expressed to Pierian club members Thursday by Mrs. Rose Havelly, who received them in the summer home on Balboa Island of her son-in-law and daughter, the Clarence Bonds. Picnic luncheon was shared at noon.

Members who had attended a recent luncheon and program for Pierian and Pegasus clubs at the Los Angeles home of Mrs. Jessie Allen Siple, gave glowing accounts of the day. A letter was read from Mrs. Siple, asking for the autograph and a suitable verse from each member for her guest book. Mrs. George Bond had a copy of the poem, "My Land of Dreams" by Olive Stainsby, for each member present.

Mrs. Charles Berge's home, 839 North Parton street was scene of a layette shower Thursday night when she and Mrs. Jack Wiedmeier of Fullerton joined in entertaining for Mrs. Kenneth Eckles of Fullerton.

Hydrangeas, bachelor buttons and snapdragons were among the flowers decking the rooms. Miss Grace Berger, Mrs. Alice Poh and Mrs. Edward Grunwald won prizes for their high and low scores in the game of the evening.

Stork figures topped the prettily decorated cakes which the honoree's mother, Mrs. Fred Mitchell had made for the occasion. The confections were served with ice cream and coffee. Later in the evening, a bassinet loaded with gifts in pink and blue wrappings, was placed before Mrs. Eckles.

Present were Mesdames Vern Crispen, Jean Eckles, Bertha Eckles, Eva Eckles, Fullerton; Mesdames Edward Grunwald, William Poh, Marvin Stowall, Fred Mitchell, Duane Bergs and the Misses Grace, Dorothy and Evelyn Berge; with the two hostesses and the honoree.

For this week's dance, 40 junior high and high school students assembled. Music was provided by Ralph Wheeler and his recordings. Assisting Miss Morton during the evening were Mrs. Edward W. Dahl and Mrs. Jones.

Friendly Party Plans
Comes As Surprise
To Honoree

Arrival of a group of friends with every indication of a party to follow, was a pleasant surprise experienced one evening early this week, by Mrs. Dallas Reichstein, 223 East St. Andrews Place.

The party had been planned by her mother, Mrs. Richard Iley, and brought together a group of close friends for an enjoyable layette shower complimenting the young matron. Flowers were included in the plans, and bowls of Shasta daisies and pink sweet peas were arranged to emphasize a dainty color scheme maintained in other details.

Several games and contests were introduced, and prizes were won by Mrs. Alfred Boonen, Mrs. Mamie Boonen and Mrs. R. D. Iley. When a pretty bassinet all in pink and white, was wheeled into the room, Mrs. Reichstein discovered that it was filled with additional gift packages. The bassinet itself was the gift of her mother's mother, Mrs. Frank Reichstein.

Refreshments, including pink leek cakes, were served at a flower-garlanded table sparkling with crystal and pink taper. Nuts and candies were in little pink perlumators.

Sharing Mrs. Iley's party plans with Mrs. Reichstein, the honoree, were the latter's three sisters, the Misses Mamie, Priscilla and Marjorie Allen, her sister-in-law, Miss Ruth Agnes, her stepson, Chester Heil, was best man. Ushers were Clarence Wesser and Harlan Moore.

Introducing contract play, the hosts provided an enjoyable evening for their guests. Scores of individual husbands and wives were totaled in determining to whom prizes should be awarded, and the Frank Parsons topped all their competitors. Mr. and Mrs. John J. Vernon produced the second highest combined scores, and the two couples were rewarded with pretty gifts.

Card tables again came into use as the evening drew to a close, when they were spread with pretty linens for a refreshment hour during which angel food cake topped with whipped cream, was served with coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Eckel had as guests Messrs. and Mesdames Herbert Allene, E. G. Maier, John J. Vernon, Walter Swanberger, Alex Rez, W. N. Holmes, Merritt Hagen and Frank Hanson.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Frances Heil was maid of honor. She wore desert pink marquisette over taffeta, with pink roses in her hair. She carried a bouquet of pink larkspur, pink delphinium and lilies of the valley. Miss Hazel Heil was in jade green net over taffeta, while Miss Dorothy Heil wore sea foam net over taffeta. Tiny veils and flower clusters for their hair were in the tones of their dresses, while their bouquets were of yellow daisies and other flowers. The bridegroom's cousin, Chester Heil, was best man. Ushers were Clarence Wesser and Harlan Moore.

Following the ceremony, the bridal couple paused to receive the good wishes of the guests. Both Mrs. Holly and Mrs. A. L. Heil wore blue lace over taffeta with gardenia corsage bouquets. The new Mr. and Mrs. Heil left for a trip to San Francisco, the bride wearing a flowered print frock with accessories in brown and earth red. They will reside on Huntington Beach boulevard, where their home is all in readiness. Both are graduates of Huntington Beach High school. The bridegroom is engaged in ranching with his father.

Rehearsal for the wedding was held early in the week, preceding a party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Heil. Both the bride and the bridegroom presented gifts to their attendants at that time.

TAKING ANOTHER'S GUILT

What good are they if you are bankrupt in honor?"

"What can I do?" sobbed Rose. "I feel terrible about it, just terrible."

"That's a good start," said Old Grumpy. "Stay with it and maybe you can reach the level of Rusty, who just made a passing grade, the blessed idiot."

With all respect to Old Man Grumpy it is best not to ask Who.

ODELL FRANCIS
I think Life begins at forty, writes Odell Francis, because then one's spine is stiff enough to stand against the horde of petty dictators; one has freed herself of sentimentality and the hampering teaching of tradition. So with funny little curls steamed to perfection on the back of my head and a pancake hat perched on one thin eyebrow I'll sit high up on the grandstand and cheer above the fortissimo of modern living.

IN THE MAW OF THE BEAST

Oh Shanghai, Circe of the East, Your Babbel song is ended. No more your Babylonish feast Will lure the wanton-handed. Now, your sequined Paris gown Will drag the muddy Whangpoo, Bathing your feet, deformed and brown.

Vainly, your lips will long to Sip red wine in sidewalk cafes. Within your dance salon No more will your almond-lidded gaze.

Search for a blue-eyed man, Sandals tracing polyglot measures in the sheen of a black glass floor. My Shanghai of cosmopolitan pleasures. With your blue-black scented hair, Fangs of the ten-horned beast of greed. Have pierced your rhinestone way, Leaving it to wind and tide. Oh amber-fleshed, full-fed and gay, Soon you'll be as dead to desire As Nineveh and Tyre!

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Stocks strong in active trade. Bonds higher and fairly active. U.S. Governments irregularly higher.

Curb stocks higher.

Foreign exchange slightly easier.

Commodity market after early easiness.

Wheat and corn barely steady.

NEW YORK, June 25.—(UPI)—Stocks wavered for a short time today and then resumed their advance with such vigor that tickers fell several minutes behind.

It was the seventh successive rise. Transactions were the heaviest since April 16.

Early irregularity was feature by a decline in stocks which were sold when traders got the impression of President Roosevelt's speech last night that the U. S. Steel corporation had given assurance no wage changes would be made in effect of a price cut.

Today the corporation flatly denied any such assurance. The market turned about and advanced swiftly under lead of steel shares, which substituted gains for early losses.

A SHORT STEP FORWARD

The new tax bill, which the President allowed to become law without his signature, marks a step toward tax sanity. And at the same time it marks a significant achievement for a courageous group of congressmen, led by Sen. Pat Harrison, who realize that you can't make business go ahead indefinitely by punishing it.

The tax bill is frankly a compromise—Senator Harrison and his followers wanted further reforms, but they were impossible to get at this time. Therefore it has not gone far toward correcting tax inequalities and abuses. But it has demonstrated that it is possible to do something to help business in the way of tax adjustment.

At the next session of Congress the friends of tax sanity must push on with redoubled vigor if the nation is really to be given a tax system that will even approach the idea of fairness, with discrimination toward none.

BLACK TURNS WHITE

When the outward aspect of a man's daily environment changes as rapidly as it does these days, the transience of familiar things becomes a matter of little emotional content. It takes a particular kind of change to produce a feeling of instantaneous aging that father experienced when he started missing the sight of horses.

It now appears that another one of those changes may be on the way. The classroom blackboard is being seriously threatened.

Somebody claims that the blackboard absorbs enough of the light in a room to cut down on the student's vision. And somebody else declares that black chalk on a white board has a better psychological effect than white chalk on a black board.

So chalk that isn't chalky, and blackboards that are whiteboards are going to be tried, and people all over the nation are making clucking noises and wondering where the world is heading.

UNDERGROUND ACTIVITIES

You often hear the criticism that the age is neglecting the moral and spiritual side of life for the material side, as evidenced by the disproportion between achievements of science and the progress in human relations.

Maybe the reason is that the scientists have so darn much fun. A man who reads the newspapers regularly can't help finding himself suspecting just a little that some of the workers who submit themselves as scientific guinea pigs and earn the reputation of martyrs of a sort are actually having the time of their lives.

With all due respect to the loftiness of their motives, let's examine the martyrdom, for instance, of two psychologists who now are engaged in finding out whether man can change his normal cycle of activities.

They have set up housekeeping down in Mammoth Cave. These days when the sun is inclined to be warm the temperature in Mammoth Cave is approximately that of an old-fashioned vegetable cellar. The men don't know when the sun rises. They haven't the slightest idea how the recession is getting along, or what the congressmen are saying.

They don't bother to shave, they dress for comfort, and the only work they do is observe their own behavior.

It must be terrible in a cave these days.

WE GO DOWN HILL ALONE

The depression that began in 1930 affected the entire world with almost equal force. Recovery began in 1936 in the United States following an earlier recovery in the other nations. Our country then registered a substantial rise in its business activity until the summer of 1937. Since that time the United States has been blanketed by a new depression that steadily has grown more severe, and has brought us ominously close to the abysmal lows of 1932. But the rest of the world is in a happier business state.

United States government figures tell the story. Using 100 as an average for the years 1923-25, German business stood at 195 in the summer of 1937 and at 180 in 1938. Italian business at 142 and 150, and British business at 130 and 125. Japan stood at 245 in 1937 and is at the same level now. So it goes, down a long list of nations. But where the United States touched 118 in 1937, it has now dropped to 77.

Why is that? Well, no country has so inflated its debt. No country, aside from the dictatorships, has pursued so punitive a policy toward private business. And in no country has the confidence of investors been so severely shaken by political persecution of business.

All of Europe is in imminent fear of a major war, yet European business goes on about as usual. And here in America, where our geographical advantages alone make us safe from invasion, and where we possess the greatest natural and industrial resources the world has ever known, we are going steadily downhill economically because, as William B. Warner, chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers, said, we have government competition with business, governmental policies of shiftlessness, thriflessness, spendthriftiness and politicians coaching the public to distrust business. That's something for the American people to think about.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON
World Copyright 1938
By King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Those Nazi spies did not get away with anything important. Nearest approach to a military secret that they pried loose was the code book it was the least important that they could have obtained.

There are three kinds of codes in U. S. military service: A secret, a confidential and a training code. They got the training code. Every buck private at Code stations has access to one. They use it merely for practicing.

The other two codes (the secret one reserved for high officials and the confidential one in restricted general use) can always be changed completely in five minutes, if a single copy is missing.

Don't worry, the good old U. S. government is getting along all right in this international spying business.

It has been denied officially, time after time, that we maintain any counter-espionage system. But after all, if we had an efficient one, you could hardly expect government officials to say so.

Note well that coming American anti-aircraft guns will bear a resemblance in some particulars to that mysterious one which Franco has been guarding more carefully than his own undershirt. The last order for anti-aircraft weapons was held up here for a long time, but has now gone through. As it went through it contained some cute little tricks from the Spanish weapon.

Perhaps this government learned these tricks when some American manufacturers were shown through a supposedly German-owned plant in Switzerland a short time ago—perhaps.

Foreign spies are not after the position of our forts, troop locations and military defense details. These are worth just about what the Nazis were paying some of their workers—$12.50 per month. First, most foreign governments already know these things. Second, no foreign government is worrying about invasion of this country.

What the foreign powers want are our scientific secrets, which an alert American defense system is developing to keep abreast of the world. They want plans and blueprints, most coveted of which now are the air bombing sight and the plane detector. To an observer, a detector looks like a box with a lot of gadgets on it. A spy would have to steal one and send it to Germany to be taken apart by a skilled technician, or else steal the plans for it, to get the secret.

None of these boxes is missing, and if one ever does there will be plenty of trouble.

The plans cannot be stolen, and are too complicated to be memorized if a technician ever got a look at all of them at once. They would make a stack of papers about three feet high, but never will, because only one or two sections are ever in the same well-guarded place at one time.

The spy caught in the airplane manufacturing works could not have had any really damaging air dope. He was making or assembling some part of plane mechanisms from which it would be impossible to get any comprehensive ideas.

Not even a group of a dozen workers would be able to provide important air secrets. These are in the hands only of responsible company officials who handle the final assembly work, tuning up, etc.

Furthermore, this government knows as much about every aviation worker as about its own soldiers. Before anyone can work in an aviation plant handling government contracts, he must be an American citizen and have his record inspected.

That Douglas bomber sabotage case in California for instance was under control from the beginning. Government agents spotted the men and knew exactly what they were doing.

No one here doubts that Nazis have arrangements for exchange of information with the Japanese. It is definitely known, and could be proved if necessary, that Jap agents recently tried to buy some data on American bombers, but did not get it.

One important American secret has leaked around the world. Although the navy refused to permit photographs of airplane carriers for a long time, it was inevitable that our method of landing planes would be discovered. Basic idea, as everyone knows, is to string cables across the ship so the under-body of a landing plane can be brought gradually to a short stop. Anyone could see how this works by standing on the roof of a house in San Pedro with field glasses.

Even so, the foreign government has not yet discovered the complicated mechanism attached to the cables below deck. Their copies are poor imitations.

Favorite American military secret sold by spies is a copy of army drill regulations. It contains such things as diagrams telling how to take a machine gun apart.

Spies purchase these booklets from the government printing office for 5 cents per booklet. Any one can buy them. Nazi agents are known to have shipped this booklet to Germany where staff officers considered it deep stuff, because such matters are kept off-

AMERICA'S FIVE-YEAR PLAN

By ELIOT JONES
Professor of Transportation and Public Utilities,
Stanford University

The United States, like Russia, that the transportation agencies had a five-year plan. Ours, to be sure, was not announced in advance as a five-year plan, but that is what it turned out to be.

Our plan—one of managed recovery—was inaugurated in 1933, and broke down in 1937. The essence of the plan was that the Federal Government should undertake the responsibility of managing the economic affairs of the people.

In carrying out its plan the Government instituted a vast program of public works: assumed the burden of supporting the unemployed; made huge loans to farmers, home owners, banks, railroads, and other corporations; subjected agriculture to control as a means of increasing farm income; sought to bring about higher wages, shorter hours, and better working conditions, including stronger unions; greatly increased taxes, partly to finance its expansive program, and partly to redistribute national income; established greater control over business enterprises, through such measures as regulation of security issues, stock exchanges, public utility holding companies, labor relations, etc.; and entered into competition in certain areas with private enterprises.

The theory behind the plan was that the country could "spend its way out of the depression." It was supposed to lavish government expenditures, plus crop restrictions and higher wages, would increase the purchasing power of farmers and laborers; that the increased purchasing power of these numerically large groups would lead to a greater demand for all sorts of goods; that manufacturing establishments would step up their output and their plant capacity; and which affect our physical well-being just as so there natural laws which affect our economic well-being. Mr. Walker believes in the effectiveness of schemes such as the Townsend plan which is a scheme to tax ourselves rich, and plowing under crops and killing cattle and hogs, and restricting production generally to make artificially high prices and destroying machines, etc., all contrary to the laws of nature, while Mr. Betts believes that there are natural laws which control everything and that the only alternative to obeying these natural laws is to suffer the consequences as we are doing at the present time and worse if we continue.

The best minds of the world, through years of studying the several thousand years of known history of mankind have determined what many of these natural laws are and have been pleading with us to listen and heed before it is too late, with not too much success. The majority of us are more still inclined to listen to a man like President Roosevelt who stated recently "It is inconceivable that we should let nature take its course."

No one he be president or dictator can interfere with nature and not suffer and if the administration of a great country such as ours attempt to do so the entire nation will suffer. What are the best minds of our nation telling us? That the way to create buying power and to reduce unemployment is by increasing production, abolishing inflexible wage scales and by resisting artificial price controls.

Why don't we listen? Probably for the same reason the old darkie couldn't tell Mr. James C. Derieux how to get where he wanted to go. Mr. Derieux tells of this little incident in one of his writings:

"Once while driving a Southern woodland road entirely new to me, I asked an old Negro man how to get out of there and back to the big road. He told me to keep right on until I came to Miss Alice's place, then turn to the left. I explained that Miss Alice and her place were unknown to me. What would her house look like?

Kinda like Mr. Barton's before it was painted. But I had not met Mr. Barton's house either before or after the improvement so the

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS

BETHANY BEACH, Del.—The foremost American question is, "When will this depression cease?" The President says that a few raindrops of improvement may mean a much-needed shower—which is decidedly more conservative than prosperity Hoovering around the corner. But it is a lot better than such official pessimism as Mr. Wallace's occasional outgivings on the farm prospect—which have been the equivalent of crying, "Rotten fish for sale."

Joe Kennedy, from the vantage point of months of absence from the scene, thinks we have about cried ourselves out.

The administration is well known to be hoping highly that its great outpouring of the public's money will bring a distinct revival just in time for the November election. They "planned it that way." But will it?

It will if the very spending itself and other governmental acts and attitude don't frighten timid, hiding, private money back into its hole. That is an "if," so uncertain that nobody can call the turn with anything more than a guess. It depends on the flux of mass opinion—crowd psychology. Nobody can either time or measure that.

The President quotes that great seer, Danny Roper, that national income this year will be $6 billions as against about 70 billions last year. Mebbeos. It is a lag of 30 billions below what we need for bare lean normality of business without increased population.

Three billions of public spending is the most that could be dished out this year. That can't make up for a lag of 30 billions or even for the lag of 10 billions between this and last year. Nothing under the sun can make up that lag except a return of private spending, that doesn't mean just big investment money. It means an end of too much caution and saving against fear of disaster by every one of the 130,000 Americans who has two nickels to rub against each other.

Those millions of cautions are part of what Joe Kennedy calls our "crying ourselves out." But the reason for the "crying" so far as big money is concerned, is fear of government. That creates a general fog of fear that seeps down to the very grass roots. It is not, as the administration contends, a "sit-down strike" of capital. It is a cowering of capital under bludgeoning of politics. Unless all signs fail, that bastinado is going to continue through the summer at an increased pace.

So much for the minus signs in this guessing contest. There are a few plus signs—for us at least—the President's "few drops of rain." One of them is a great and nearly general European drought and a tendency in war-threatened countries to lay up surplus stocks of commodities—including farm products. That should eventually offset the price-depressing effect of our probable bumper crops.

There are some faint glimmerings of hope in very recent seasonal sales figures and even the vital automobile pattern isn't as gloomy as it was a month ago.

More important than all of this is the fundamental fact that this is just too big and wealthy and has too much essential umph for even the most idiotic government gyrations to keep it down for long.

Stocks become exhausted. Needs are consumed. Human needs and appetites continue. After a sufficient period of deprivation, action simply has to begin. Rising activity begets rising activity and even the Third New Deal can't stop it. The difficulty is in timing it. This column joins the President in declining to try that. But here is a rabbit's foot punch. The Third New Deal must have improvement for the November elections. Mr. Roosevelt is so lucky that, if he falls into a well, he would land on a buried treasure.

HERE AND THERE

Many of the species of fish inhabiting the ocean depths have no eyes.

The first American automobile sold for export was steam-driven, and was sent to Bombay, India.

Tobacco, when mixed with salt, is said to be good for sheep, and they like it.

friend old fellow tried again. If I would drive on a pretty good piece—not too far, though—I would come to the scene of the big killing at the old turpentine still—the still was gone now—and then I might take a twisty little field road and be on my way. Again I had to plead dismal ignorance.

"Cap'n," said the old man, "I'm sorry, but you don't know enough for me to tell you how to get where you aim to go."

Before we get out of the woods there are a few things we are going to have to learn. Over-production of everything is an impossibility. An over-production in one thing means an under-production in something else.

Machines do not put men out of work but rather increase employment.

Commodities and wages have a natural value and both are arrived at in exactly the same way by free and unrestricted competition.

Our problems are not natural problems but are caused by human interference with nature. Let's quit interfering.

MISLEADING STATEMENTS BY J. C. SPEAKER

If the newspaper reports correctly quote Dr. Carl Summer Knopf, dean of religion at the University of Southern California, as to his statements made to the graduates of Jaysee, it would seem that he could not substantiate them by giving specific instances. He is quoted as saying, "We have had other and more serious depressions and recessions." If "we" meant the United States, his statement certainly is not true. And when he is talking to Junior College graduates in the United States, it would seem that "we" meant the United States.

He does not seem to realize that never before in our history has there been a time when, for any five year period, there was not an increase in employment; there was not an addition to the wealth of the country. He does not seem to realize that there is a great fundamental change now from any other depression. Never in our history did the government assume the responsibility of supporting the people. Before this depression, the people always attempted to support the government. But we have established a new precedent, a new custom. We have given the voting majority the right to take from one and give directly to another. We have established the principle that the government must furnish jobs. And every time this principle was established in any democratic country, it always has been carried to such an extreme that it was necessary to have some Moses lead the people out of the wilderness and establish again Commandments or Bill of Rights
